FEAR TROUBLE AT BROWNSVILLE

THE PRESIDENT NOT ALARMED

His Return to Washington Was to Keep in Close Touch With the Mexican Situation

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, Aug. 12.—Shortly after President Wilson returned to the White House today it was announced that no cabinet meeting will be held tomorrow. It was explained that the President has returned to Washington to keep in close touch with the situation. He does not consider the situation so alarming, however, it was announced, as to require any concerted action. He will confer with Secretary of War Garrison at once on conditions along the Mexican border.

It was announced that Secretary Garrison is completely in charge of the situation but the President is anxious that every step possible to allay danger be made. He wants the citizens of Texas to feel assured that no harm will come to them. Individual conferences will be held by the President with the members of his cabinet before next Tuesday, when the next regular meeting will be held.

CALLED TO PUT DOWN DISTURBANCE

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, D. C., August 12.—American marines were called upon Wednesday to put down some disorder at Port au Prince, Admiral Caperton advised the navy department today. No mention of casualties were made. The election of a new president for the republic took place at noon today.

WANT LIST OF ALL AVAILABLE FOR DUTY

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, D. C., August 12.—Secretary of War Garrison this afternoon called upon General Lusk J. H. Bliss, chief of staff of the United States army for a complete list of all troops in continental United States available for duty along the Mexican border.

Gen. Funston Notifies War Department That He Has Sent Another Battalion of Infantry to Better Protect That Section

MINISTERS ON GUNBOAT SACRAMENTO

Brazilian and Guatemalan
Ministers and Their Families Leave Mexico.

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, Aug. 12.—The Brazilian and Guatemalan ministers to Mexico and their families are on board the gunboat Sacramento on their way to New Orleans, the state department announced today. The gunboat left Vera Cruz at 6 o'clock last night.

LAWMAKERS INVITED
Invitations were sent out on Wednesday to the governor and council and all members of the legislature to attend a celebration under the auspices of the directors of the port of Boston, next week in connection with the Annual Conference of Governors.

President Wilson approves the plan arrived at between Secretary of State Lansing and the Latin-American diplomats in relation to Mexican matters.

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, Aug. 12.—General Funston, commander-in-chief of the American forces along the Mexican border, notified the War Department today that he had sent another battalion of the 9th infantry from Laredo, Texas, to Brownville, in order to better protect that section.

DENIES REPORT THAT AMERICANS ARE IN DANGER

Carranza Says He Will Afford
Ample Protection for All Foreigners.

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, Aug. 12.—General Carranza today cabled to his agency here to deny all reports that foreigners are in danger in Vera Cruz, and other parts of Mexico by his forces. Carranza stated that he would afford full and ample protection to all foreigners whatever their nationality and that reports that their lives were in danger were lies.

ALLIES TRYING TO FORCE THE DARDANELLES

Dispatch From Mitylene Says
Two More Turkish Trenches
Have Been Taken.

(Special to The Herald)
Athens, Aug. 12.—Steady gains for the Allies are resulting from the most ambitious attempt yet made to force the Dardanelles. Two immense drives on the peninsula of Gallipoli are under way. A dispatch from Mitylene says that two more Turkish trenches have been taken by the Allies.

FRENCH AIRMEN RETALIATE ON GERMAN TOWNS

Berlin, August 12.—Replying to a recent German air raid over the British East coast, French airmen attacked Zweibrücken and Bantingbeert today, killing eight persons and wounding several others. All the victims were non-combatants. The damage to property was small. The aviators flew over Upper Alsace coming from Belfort.

BRITISH FISHING SMACK DESTROYED

(Special to The Herald)
London, Aug. 12.—The British fishing smack Ocean, Giff, Esperant, and George Burrow have been destroyed by German submarines. The crews were landed today.

CHAMPIONSHIP WON BY THE P. A. C. AGAIN

Defeat Y. M. C. A. in Deciding Game 7 to 6--4,500 See Last Battle of the Season

Fully 4500 enthusiastic fans of Portsmouth saw the Portsmouth Athletic Club capture the 1915 Championship of the Sunset League last evening by defeating the Y. M. C. A. in one of the most interesting games played on the diamond since the opening on May 12. The score was 7 to 6, but that doesn't mean that it was a close game at all. Some of the best inside ball shown this year was pulled off last night. It was baseball all the time, and the few misplays were due to the strain under which those eighteen ball players were working.

It was a great game. McPheters and Leary opened up in the box for their respective teams and they were pitching the best ball that they knew how. The game saw-sawed back and forth all the five innings, and it wasn't until Jordan made the third out for the Y. M. C. A., when Ralph Brackett ran almost to first base to capture his foul fly.

In the second inning Bill Leary went bad. He passed two men after two were out and filled the bases. They were three-bagger and a single brought across four runs. Bill played inside baseball right there. He asked to be relieved and Ira Newick took his place and the next man was out. Bill Leary was far from wrong. He was going bad for a minute and he knew it, but he was right again at the beginning of the third, and pitched fine ball the rest of the game. In the third inning George McPheters resigned the box and put in Spike Jordan. They made but one hit off Spike, but the damage was already done and the game was lost.

There were some sensational plays made and some mighty fine hitting. Mulholland's three bagger with three men on in the second was one of the prettiest placed hits of the season. The ball went hard to right field, close to the foul line, where there was absolutely no possible chance for a man to be. He also made a great catch off Lynskey in the fourth inning, falling down before he started and getting the ball only after the hardest kind of a run. The following play was also fine. Marden made a great stop of Howard's hard hit grounder and a perfect peg to Brackett at first did the trick. Both catches were cases of plain robbery, as the hits looked safe.

The game was umpired by Mr. Quinlan of Dover, who did a good job in a hard position. It was thought by the directors that it would be better to have a man who was absolutely disinterested, and who the crowd knew must be disinterested on account of the high feeling that is natural at such a game, rather than the regular umpires or some other men residing in the city who might have been thought to have leanings toward one or the other of the teams. Mr. Quinlan's work seemed perfectly satisfactory.

The Game

1st Inning—Marden hit one that took a bad bounce past Harrington for a single. He stole second. Mulholland fled out to Howard in center. Marden stealing third after the ball was caught. McPheters was out at first. W. Brackett to Newick, Marden scoring on the play. Gibson fled out to W. Brackett. One run.

R. Brackett was out at first. McPheters to Brackett. Bill Brackett hit for two bases. Leary fled out to Mulholland in center and Brackett took third after the catch. Newick lined to right for a single, scoring Brackett and taking second on the throw in. Lynskey was thrown out at first. Marden to Brackett. One run.

2d Inning—Shuttleworth fled out to W. Brackett. Craig singled past third. Thomas hit to Leary who threw to Harrington for a force-out on Shuttleworth. Jordan was walked and Marden also drew a pass, filling the bases. Mulholland picked out one that looked good to him and belted it to right field close to the line for three bases, scoring Thomas, Jordan and Marden. McPheters singled to left, scoring Mulholland. (Newick pitching. Leary in center, Howard at first.) Brackett was thrown out. W. Brackett to Howard. Four runs.

Howard was passed. C. Brackett

fanned. Woods was hit by a pitched ball. Harrington was safe on Brackett's error at first, Howard scoring. R. Brackett was out on a foul fly to Jordan at third. R. Brackett singled to right, scoring Woods and Harrington and taking second on the throw to the plate. Leary drew a pass. Newick singled past short. Lynskey fled out to Mulholland in center. Three runs. Ira, they Wussard shd lrdn hder 3d Inning—Leary in the box. Newick at first, Howard in center. Gibson fanned. Shuttleworth singled over third. Craig sacrificed, Leary to Newick. Thomas fanned. No runs. Howard was safe on an error by Jordan at third. C. Brackett hit to left for two bases, scoring Howard and advancing to third on the throw. He scored on Marden's error. (Jordan in the box, McPheters at third.) Woods fanned. Harrington was safe at first when McPheters fumbled his grounder. He stole second, and took third when Thomas over-threw the base. R. Brackett singled to left, scoring Harrington. He stole second. W. Brackett was out on a fly to Marden. Leary grounded out to Brackett at first. Three runs.

4th Inning—Jordan was hit by a pitched ball. Marden fanned. Mulholland singled over second, advancing Jordan. McPheters fanned. Brackett hit to W. Brackett, who threw bad to third for a force-out. Jordan scoring. Gibson grounded out to Newick at first. One run.

Newick was out at first. Marden to Brackett. Lynskey fled out to Mulholland. Howard was out at first. Marden to Brackett. No runs. 5th Inning—Shuttleworth was out at first. Leary to Newick. Wright, batting for Craig, fanned. Thomas was passed. Jordan was out on a foul fly that Ralph Brackett ran down to first to capture. No runs.

EXPERTS DECLARE McLOUGHLIN WILL TAKE

CHAMPIONSHIP TENNIS HONORS AWAY FROM WILLIAMS.

McLOUGHLIN

WILLIAMS

New York, Aug. 12.—Maurice Evans, McLaughlin of California gave convincing proof on the turf courts of the Longwood Cricket club here recently that the might of his arm, the cunning of his court tactics and the power of his strokes are as potent as of yore by defeating it. Norris Williams 2d, national champion, in the challenge round for the Longwood bowl. The red-headed California "comet" crushed Williams under a score of 6-3, 6-3, 2-6, 6-2. This gave the Pacific coast star the match and his third leg on the famous Longwood bowl, which is now his "to have and to hold" forever. Playing conditions could hardly have been worse than when the two greatest exponents of the game in this country took the court to decide the old question of supremacy. The courts were sodden when the match began, and during the second set a light rain began to fall and continued to the end. Both men slipped and sprawled about the court, and the playing surface looked like a played field long before the final point was scored. Although Williams seemed the more upset by the heavy and uncertain footing, the conditions were as fair for one as the other, and McLaughlin easily demonstrated his superiority. Williams and McLaughlin will clash in the national journey, to be held at Forest Hills, Aug. 24 to Aug. 30. Judging by the present form of the men McLaughlin should experience little difficulty in capturing the championship. Last year Williams won it from McLaughlin.

Howard F. Whitney, secretary of the United States Golf Association recently realized an ambition that he has had for twenty years—the making of a golf hole in one stroke. And Whitney did it with a borrowed mallet.

Whitney was playing on the St. Louis course. He came to the 16th hole, a 175 yard affair. The head of Whitney's own mallet had been loose and Whitney borrowed a club from his opponent. He teed up, swatted the ball right where it ought to be swatted, and the ball after traveling about 155 yards in the air, landed and rolled right into the cup.

Oh yes, Whitney owns the mallet now. He intends to show it to his grandchildren.

Barney Oldfield, the racing Devil, has jumped to the automobile outfit. He's going to race at meets conducted under the auspices of the International Motor Contest Association, which is not recognized by the American Automobile Association, and which by the way isn't worrying about the lack of recognition.

Barney's last race under the auspices of the A. A. A. was at the Minneapolis track on September 4. On September 10th he will race at the Nebraska State Fair under the L. C. Standard.

Ad Wolgast seems to be out to beat the record of Battling Levinsky for continuous performances. The Bar-act since his little bones have come back to normal condition, has been battling on an average of once a week. "I'll fight every night if I get the chance," said Wolgast.

There is considerable speculation as to just what kind of an affair this Puckey McFarland-Mike Gibbons bout is going to be.

There are a few of the gentle readers of boxing notes who are confident that it's going to be something of a gentle fight, and therefore a hammer and tongs affair from beginning to end.

"Puckey's sore on Mike and Mike is just awfully puffed at Puckey," says this faction. "They've been as swords points for years and both have been keen to settle the grade. This is the first—and probably the last chance and fun's going to fly."

But on the other hand there's the big bulk of fight fans who think the affair will be nothing more than a dancing contest. Boxing means work. Why should Puckey and Mike work when they will get paid whether they work or not?

Puckey hasn't done any active ring work for nearly two years. There's a long time to be out of the fight game. Puckey may come back faster and stronger than ever—and he may not. He may put up a whirlwind exhibition and he may decide to take things easy and simply use his master defense to block the leads of the St. Paul ghost.

Mike is in shape and when Mike wants to extend himself he's a wonder. But Mike is in the opinion of some of the experts isn't as good as he was a year ago. He shows slight signs of slipping.

Nevertheless the bout ought to be a hammer if both men really extend themselves. But will they?

WITH THE SPORTS

New York, August 12—A. Kookukan Iowa batter in the Central League singled. The next batter stepped to the plate. The runner made a blurt at stealing second and the Waterloo (Iowa) pitcher threw the ball to first base four times in a row in an attempt to catch him off the bag where upon the umpire awarded him a base on balls although the pitcher hadn't thrown once to the plate.

A riot nearly ensued. But the umpire was ready for just such a contingency. When the Waterloo players rushed in upon him with the speed and fury of the Germans attacking the Russians the umpire waved a rule book at them and holding them at bay read to them Rule 33, Section 1, which is as follows:

"If after the batsman has standing in his proper position ready to strike at a pitched ball, the ball be thrown by the pitcher to any other player than the catcher (except in an attempt to retire a base runner) each ball thrown shall be called a ball."

It's an old, old rule, but it's a new one on the present generation of ball players and fans.

FIND ABANDONED AUTO IN PLUM ISLAND SAND

Believe It to be Car That Killed Thomas Griffin at Ipswich Sat- urday Night

The finding of a Ford car at Plum Island, stuck in the sand, between the site of the hotel and Merrill's store at midnight Sunday has furnished a clue to the identity of the man who it is suspected ran down and killed Thomas Griffin of Lawrence on the top of Windmill hill, Ipswich.

Yesterday Constable Henry Rogers of Byfield, being notified by B. T. Rogers, an uncle who resides at Plum Island, of the find, came down and looked the automobile over.

The machine had the hood dented and there were blood stains on the front of it. The top was torn open giving the idea that the automobile, if it be the one in the accident, struck the unfortunate man and threw him entirely over it and landed him behind the machine.

When Mr. Merrill saw the auto there was a man in it with a lantern and the prints in the sand showed that he had attempted to back out and finally decided to abandon the Ford and make his escape.

The speedometer showed 88 miles. There was a laundry bill and some collars, but the shirts named on the paper were gone.

State Officer Wells was notified by Constable Rogers, and yesterday they took the machine to Byfield. The officers took off the number plates and took charge of the laundry bill, declining to give any information as to the name of the owner.

They admitted that this evidence corresponded with that which had been previously entertained and, they expected, if the facts were not in print, to be able to make the arrest today.

The car lay where it was stranded from Sunday at midnight until Wednesday, when it was taken away. The story of the accident was given on Monday. Griffin, who has recently been in Fall River, was lately married to a nurse in Lawrence who had recently been in Ipswich.

The case was investigated by the Ipswich police after the discovery of the unconscious victim in the road. He was later taken to the Beverly hospital but died soon after he had reached there.

It must have been known to the auto driver, whose name has been suppressed by the police, that he had struck the man, and feared to face the responsibility of the act.

He must have been unacquainted with the conditions at Plum Island, otherwise he would have known of the impossibility to run an automobile through the sand.

small amount to take from the pockets of the people by taxation, and there is much to be said for this view. We have also raised some 1,555,000,000 by the first war loan, 157,500,000 by Exchequer bonds, and 1,175,000,000 by Treasury bills.

Treasury bills are a form of what is called floating debt; they are, in effect, promissory notes issued by the government and they fall due three, six, nine or twelve months from the date of issue. Obviously they are only a stopgap, because it is not possible to finance a great war by such short-lived measures. The city, in fact, was rather scandalized by the action of the Treasury in paying its way to so great an extent as it did by this form of borrowing which is reminiscent of the methods of Mr. Mearns. If a manufacturer built a factory and paid for it by means of promissory notes due in six or twelve months, he would be looked on as somewhat unsound in his finance. But, of course, in time of war it is often necessary to go ahead along the line of least resistance, and our big issues of Treasury bills bridged us comfortably over the interval between our two big war loans.

"The first war loan was a wonderful achievement in some respects. The rate of interest was only 3-1-2 per cent., and it was placed at 95, allowing for the profit of 25 per cent. On redemption at par in 1928, this gave the buyer a rate of just 4 per cent. For any ratio to be able to get out a loan of 1,750,000,000 on such terms while engaged on the greatest and the costliest war that ever has been waged is a really remarkable feat. Nevertheless, the first loan was not placed well. The general public was not attracted by the terms offered, and thought a large number of patriotic subscribers came forward to support their country's finance at this great crisis, without any regard to the terms of the loan, the country as a whole was not stirred to any great effort. Most people, relying on our tremendous national wealth, thought that there was no need to beat themselves, and so the loan was left chiefly to the banks and other professional financiers.

"But the country was not allowed to make this mistake again. When the necessity arose for the second great war loan, nothing was left undone that could stir the patriotic feeling of every capitalist, large and small, and bring home to him the duty of putting every available shilling at the disposal of the government in its fight for the cause of civilization. There is no need now to descend on the terms of the loan and the attractions that it offered. They were so well hammered into us by the press and by the public speakers and the Parliamentary War Savings Committee that we all know about them and we have all done our best, and are still doing our best, to make this loan the greatest financial triumph of history.

"So far, then, the government has paid for the war by taxation and by borrowing at home. The next thing that it will have to do is to borrow abroad, because it is buying so much war material for itself and its allies in America that only by a loan in New York can these purchases be financed. This fact brings us to the second question involved.

"When a nation is appealed to by its government for money for a war, either through taxation or through loans, it can meet the call and find the money demanded in two ways. It can either save it, by going without things that it used to enjoy, or it can raise it by selling securities, or anything else that it can sell. By the first method, that of self-denial, it hands over its spending power to the government and says in effect, "You buy shells and everything else that you want; we will do without part of the food and drink and other good things that we used to have. By this means the nation does not become any poorer, and can go on with the war till further notice.

"How far have we done this? Very little, so far, except in so far as we have been forced to. The comparatively small number of people who have been actually hit by the war, and so have been forced to economize, can say that they have spent less, but can hardly claim to have exercised the virtue of self-denial. We are not traveling on the Continent much this year, because it is uncomfortable and sometimes dangerous. But a large proportion of the population is enjoying the high wages and big profits that the war has brought with it, and taking full advantage of them by spending freely. It is said that cheap American motor cars, to give one example, are being sold very rapidly on this side among people who now find themselves in a position to enjoy this kind of luxury, and do not see why they should not do so. The difficulty of making people see how by their own spending they affect the country's financial position will land us in serious trouble if it is not overcome. Anything bought from America that is not necessary to life, or necessary for the army, is a crime; for we are piling up such a debt to America that America will soon be able to dictate terms to us about finance.

"So far we have met it to a certain extent out of the large sums that America owed us on floating credits at the beginning of the war; we have also sold to New York big blocks of American railroad bonds, held here by investors, and, as has been said, the government sooner or later will have to issue a loan in New York. All these expedients leave us poorer and America richer. If they go on we shall end the war a debtor country in New York's pocket. As a nation we must

SLIT HER HUSBAND ACROSS THE FOREHEAD

Mrs. Albert Kuetri of 1239 Elm Street, Manchester, does not believe in more than one ultimatum to a person. Tuesday night she served an ultimatum on her husband and when he failed to make amends she construed his failure to act as "deliberately unfriendly."

The next thing she grabbed a ten-inch butcher knife and slit Albert across the forehead. The cut was not a serious one but looked bad after the blood started to flow.

As near as can be learned Kuetri has been of strict neutrality so far as any kind of labor is concerned. Mrs. Kuetri has objected to his sitting idly while she labored, and Tuesday she warned him that he would have to get busy or there'd be trouble. He didn't get busy and hence there was trouble.

Kuetri was taken to the police station, where his wound was dressed. It is understood that the woman has not been taken into custody, the affair having some of the aspects of a minor family row.

RYE NEWS

The annual reunion of the Locke family, descendants of Captain Jonathan Locke who settled at Rye Harbor, will be held at the Town Hall on Wednesday, August 25th. The committee in charge are arranging a fine program of entertainment and it is expected that the attendance will be one of the largest for years.

Miss Florence Adams of Brookline, Mass., is the guest of Miss Dorothy Parsons.

Miss Mary Pinlayson is visiting friends in Manchester, N. H.

Mr. Henry Leavitt of Atkinson, Me., J. Parsons.

The lawn party for the benefit of St. Andrews Church is to be held at Bachelder's Hotel, Little Boat's Head next Thursday afternoon.

The Every Other Tuesday Club will meet with Mrs. T. Herbert Perkins next Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

The regular monthly business meeting of Rye Grange will be held on Friday evening. Plans for visiting Ithaca and the change of Dover on the 28th will be discussed.

WILL MAKE SOME APPOINTMENTS

New Members for Police Boards Will Be Named.

The governor meets with his executive council on Friday of this week and at that time the appointment of the new advisory board of the state department of agriculture will be made. This is of especial interest in connection with the new wave of interest in New Hampshire agriculture which is shown in the state press and which was evidenced by the large gathering in spite of the very bad weather, for the Hampton Beach Farmers' Day, under the auspices of the state board last Wednesday, at which Gov. Spaulding was among the speakers.

The appointment of police commissioners for the various cities of the state also will be discussed at this week's meeting of the governor and council and some appointments may be made. It is not regarded as probable that the present commissioners will be re-appointed except possibly in Manchester, where the retiring member is former State Senator F. W. Shontell, who was the progressive candidate for congress in the first district last fall. At the same time in view of the governor's expressed wish in regard to the police situation in Nashua it is not likely that any appointment will be made there which will weaken the standing of the present "Gregg" commission.

When he had finished he had left over scraps that were too bad to put in the rattlesnake, the hyena, the scorpion or the skunk; so he placed all these together, covered it with suspicion, wrapped it with jealousy, marked it with a Yellow Streak, and called it a KNOCKER.

Then as a compensation for this fearful product, He took a sunbeam and put it in the heart of a child, the love of a mother, the brain of a man, wrapped these in civic pride, covered it with brotherly love, gave it a mask of velvet and a grasp of steel, and called it a BOOSTER.

THE LADDER OF ST. AUGUSTINE

Saint Augustine! well has thou said
That of our vices we can frame
A ladder if we will but tread
Beneath our feet each deed of shame!

All common things, each day's events
That with the hour begin and end,
Our pleasures and our discontents,
Are rounds by which we may ascend.

The low desires, the base designs,
That makes another's virtues less;
The revel of the ruddy wine,
And all occasions of excess.

The longing for ignoble things;
The strife for triumph more than truth;
The hardening of the heart that youth;
brings
Irreverence for the dreams.

All thoughts of ill; all evil deeds,
That have their root in thoughts of ill;
Whatever hinders our impulses
The action of the nobler will;

All these must first be trampled down
Beneath our feet if we would gain
By the bright fields of fair renown,
The light of eminent domain.

We have not wings, we cannot soar;
But we have feet to scale and climb,
By slow degrees by more and more,
The cloudy summits of our time.

The mighty pyramids of stone,
That wedge-like cleave the desert
airs,
When nearer seen, and better known,
Are but gigantic flights of stairs.

The distant mountains that appear
Their solid bastions to the sides,
Are crossed by pathways that appear
As we to higher levels rise.

The rights by great men reached and kept
Were not attained by sudden flight,
But they, while their companions
slept,
Were toiling upward in the night.

Standing on what too long we bore
With shoulders bent and downward eyes;
We may discover—unforeseen before—
A path to higher destinies.

Nor deem the irrevocable past,
As wholly wasted, wholly vain;
If, rising o'er the wrecks at last,
To something nobler we attain.

—H. W. Longfellow.

Nothing Can Keep Fresh After It's Cut Up

Real tobacco flavor depends upon the leaf being preserved in its natural state, possible only by pressing the leaves into plug form and keeping it in by covering it with a natural leaf wrapper. The natural flavor and strength of tobacco escape when cut or granulated.

Take a Plug of Sickle that is even thoroughly dried out so that when you whittle it off it crumbles into dust, but it will burn and smoke smooth and cool as it has all of its original tobacco flavor preserved, unevaporated in Plug Form.

Whittling a pipeful is little trouble, amply repaid in both quality and quantity. Try this experiment and judge for yourself.

Is It Being Overdone?

It is a question in the minds of many who are in the habit of looking at things from the practical standpoint whether the regulation of the milk business is not being overdone at some points. No one questions the necessity of strict cleanliness in the production and handling of milk, but there are those who feel that theory may be playing a larger part in this field than it should, that this is to a considerable extent responsible for the high prices that prevail in the cities and that conditions in the future will be more burdensome than those of the present if the drift continues in the present direction.

A Boston paper says that many people in that city are paying 22 cents a quart for their milk and that they consider it economical to do so, owing to what they believe to be the superiority of the milk they use, but all understand that ordinary people cannot pay such prices and must manage to get along and feed their babies on a grade of milk that costs less money. From eight to twelve cents a quart is as much as the average family can afford to pay, and if the matter of regulation ever carries the price much above that point there is bound to be hardship in some households.

In Massachusetts a great deal of attention has been paid to the milk question in the last few years, and during the same time the number of cows in the state has steadily diminished. Dairy men who have gone out of the business claim that all their profits have been wiped out by the conditions and restrictions imposed by the health authorities. Proper restrictions and safeguards there must be in the interest of the public health, but the regulations should be practical and not loaded down with the fads and theories of dreamers and experimenters, which are undoubtedly crippling the milk business seriously in some parts of the country. A western farmer now visiting in the East says that in the territory that supplies Chicago with milk hundreds of milk producers have been driven out of the business by regulations which they have found unbearable, and he predicts that if this sort of thing is kept up for twenty years there will be a serious shortage of milk in many cities, and that the supply of beef will be materially affected.

It all sifts down to a choice between the practical and the theoretical, and in the end the authorities will have to settle down on the practical if milk, one of the greatest necessities, is not to be converted into a luxury practically beyond the reach of many households in the big cities.

Suggestion Should Be Heeded.

We have always believed that the success and growth of the Portsmouth Navy Yard depended largely upon the employees. If the workmen give to the government the best service possible and enter into their duties with enthusiasm and with a desire to turn out the work as economical and as rapidly as it is possible to do at private or other yards this will be accomplished. The head of the Industrial Department has issued a memorandum calling the employees' attention to the necessity and desirability of their giving the government satisfactory and economical service. The suggestion of the Industrial Department manager should be heeded and this paper believes it will be.

William T. Sedgwick of Boston, president of the Public Health Association, which is to hold its annual convention at Rochester, N. Y., next month, says the United States is engaged in warfare against "typhus as well as typhoid, Asiatic cholera as well as small pox, bubonic plague as well as dysentery, cancer and inanition, poverty and unemployment, gluttony and intemperance, uncleanness, bad air and perverted appetites." This is a startling list of foes, and without doubt President Sedgwick is right when he says "the enemy has been made more powerful because of the war in Europe." In battling against such an enemy the members of the Public Health Association may well be regarded as generals, and every intelligent man and woman should hasten to join the ranks.

The much criticised seamen's law has a sturdy champion in W. B. Wilson, secretary of labor, who places it on a par with Magna Charta, the Declaration of Independence and the Emancipation Proclamation. But the chances are that it will not be so enduring.

The beet sugar industry has had its ups and downs, but in spite of every drawback it is still in the ring. It is estimated that more than $100,000,000 is invested in the business in this country at the present time.

The New York police are practicing signaling with flags. Such a system may be useful in some instances, but in many cases the troubles in New York are where flag signaling would be of mighty little account.

The "sunny South" is reported to be supplying a liberal amount of "moonshine" also.

CURRENT OPINION

Flying Machine Will Supercede Battleship in Modern Warfare.

It is obvious that we are on the eve of a revolution in methods of conducting warfare and that the novel features introduced by the European war are all the product of scientific research; hence we may anticipate that the scientific man will be an important factor in future developments.

I regard the progress of aviation as the most significant feature that has yet appeared. The power that secures supremacy in the air will ultimately have all other methods of warfare at its mercy.

Although sea power will become secondary to air power, it by no means follows that modern navies have by any means become obsolete, yet this is proved by the fact that in spite of Germany's great power and ingenuity her commerce upon the high seas has been completely swept away by modern navies, and all her commerce destroyers have disappeared. Her submarine warfare has only been successful in destroying a very small percentage of her enemies' commerce, and the damage to naval vessels by Zeppelins and flying machines is so far negligible.

One great lesson to be learned by America is the important part that will be played in future warfare by the heavier than air flying machine, which has already demonstrated its ability to cope with the Zeppelin.—By Alexander Graham Bell, Noted Inventor.

EXECUTION OF BELGIAN ENGINEER

Berlin, August 12.—The "Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung" officially contradicts the charges of the Paris papers that the Belgian engineer, Lenoire who was executed some time ago at Ghent, was shot without a trial and that his wife with 200 Belgian citizens was compelled to witness the execution.

"There is not one word of truth in these charges," the official organ of the German government says, "Lenoire had for some time been under suspicion of furnishing information about German military transports to the Belgian, French and English commanders. He was caught in the act, court-martialed and convicted, according to the rules of war."

"The execution of the spy took place at daylight in a little wood which is about three miles from the nearest village. Special cars were taken by the military authorities that no Belgian should witness the shooting of the convicted man. The only persons present were a few German officers and the Catholic chaplain of a German field hospital."

FRENCH CALL GALLIPOLI A SHAMBLES

Berne, August 12.—A Swiss soldier of the French foreign legion, who is fighting at the Dardanelles has sent a gruesome description of the battles on the peninsula of Gallipoli to his parents. In a letter published by a Louisiana paper he writes:

"Gallipoli is a shambles. We are fighting day and night and never have an hour's rest. Great heaps of dead bodies are all around us and the stench is unbearable. The losses are fearful, but not on the side of the Turks, but on ours. Again and again we are driven against the impregnable positions of the enemy on the hills and cliffs. Sometimes we gain a few yards of ground or a trench at an awful cost, but mostly our attacks are repulsed, or we are driven out of the conquered position next day. Some of the Australian and Irish regiments have been entirely wiped out and the French troops have suffered almost as badly. I do not believe that I will get out of this hell alive."

If you are thinking of buying goods for the home this is the right season to consult the advertising columns of this newspaper.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION AT WASHINGTON

Exists Between State, War and Navy Departments Over Mexican Situation.

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, Aug. 12.—A distinct difference of opinion exists today between the State Department and the War and Navy Departments over Mexico. The State Department believes that the show of force made by sending the fourth division of the Atlantic fleet to southern waters and the orders to the entire army in this country and to the rest of the fleet to get ready for possible active service was a mistake.

Its chief has been to stir up bitter anti-American feeling not alone in Mexico, but in certain of the Latin-American countries where the belief now exists that armed intervention to establish a government for Mexico is planned.

Secretary of State Lansing, who conferred with President Wilson at noon today, told him that he believed that the battleships ordered south would be diverted to an American port such as Hampton Roads, or at the worst to the naval station at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. He also told the president that the trouble in Texas was entirely due to disappointed bandits and former soldiers who are anxious to rob and murder, and that his reports indicated that there was no connection between the fighting there and the Mexican revolution. Secretary Lansing brought with him certain reports received from Consul Canada and Sullivan showing that the Carranza capital was quiet.

The open attempt on the part of the diplomatic branch of the government to soft pedal the movement by the army and navy has caused resentment in both military and naval circles. There is not the slightest attempt to disguise the serious situation confronting the United States. The conference between Secretary Lansing and the Latin-American diplomats and the contemplated appeal to the warring Mexican factions to get together, is characterized as "another Niagara talkfest that will prove abortive."

HIS SEVENTY-FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Old Veteran Receives Many Warm Congratulations From Score of Friends.

Col. John W. Leavitt, member of the clerical force attached to the general store at the navy yard, is today receiving the congratulations of an extensive circle of friends. Today Mr. Leavitt is celebrating the 71st anniversary of his birth. One must certainly stretch imagination to conceive of him being over 70 years old. Mr. Leavitt has a Civil war record that any man might well be proud of. A patriot, whose loyalty to the flag and whose devotion to his country has always been of the highest order. Col. Leavitt possesses a disposition of the most genial character. His acquaintance includes U. S. senators, congressmen, governors, army and navy officers of high rank and many other influential people in various vocations. The numerous messages of congratulations, esteem and good wishes coming to Col. Leavitt today is a reminder of his high citizenship. Mr. Leavitt has a heart that is true, loyal and generous, a captivating personality, an even temper, a make-up that has endeared him to the citizens of Portsmouth irrespective of creed, nationality or color. It is said of Col. Leavitt that he never deserted a friend or turned his back to the enemy. The Herald joins today with scores of other friends in wishing Mr. Leavitt as many pleasant years in the future as he has enjoyed in the past.

CITIZENS SLEEP UNDER ARMS IN TEXAS COUNTIES

Racial War With Mexicans Is Feared Along Border—Wild Plan, Backed by Ignorant Classes in Mexico, Aims to Return Part of Texas to Mexican Control.

Brownsville, Texas, August 11.—Virtually every American citizen in the three southern counties of Texas—Cameron, Hidalgo and Starr—is resting under arms tonight in fear that the overwhelming Mexican population of the section may break out in a racial fight.

The Mexican disturbance spread rapidly westward today until rumors of trouble developed at Laredo, 200 miles along the border from here. The disturbance is reported here to have been part of an attempt to turn part of Texas back to Mexican control, a wild scheme backed by ignorant classes of Mexicans, escaped convicts, fugitives from justice on the American side and irresponsible Mexicans from the other side including some Mexican soldiers.

Army and federal investigators declared the organizers of the trouble are working under the plan of San Diego, which calls for the death of every American male over 16 years of age in communities along the Rio Grande and also along the border of New Mexico, Arizona and California.

It has been reported to Major-General Frederick Funston that more than 3,000 Mexicans are already pledged to this organization. Federal officials last winter believed they tipped one attempt to put this revolution into effect when they arrested a Mexican on charges of sedition, discovering in his possession details of the plan which were published at that time.

Authorities here tonight are watching the river about ten miles below Brownsville, at a point where it was reported several hundred armed Mexicans had gathered on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande waiting to cross the river under darkness. A Mexican rancher in Hidalgo county, about 50 miles up the river from Brownsville, reported for aid this afternoon, asserting that eighty armed Mexicans were hiding on his ranch. He said they had threatened to kill him if he told of their presence.

There were many reports here that officials of the Mexican side of the river, which is under Carranza control, are responsible for some of the troubles on the American side, either by laxness of discipline or by direct connivance. However, there is no evidence that any of the higher Mexican authorities are involved in these plots, which seem rather the doings of individuals.

The officials here report 1700 former Carranza soldiers have crossed the river along a zone 120 miles wide from a point below Brownsville to Rio Grande City, up the river. At least thirty different parties are said to have crossed. Most of the river bank winds through brush and woods, far from any roads, so that a small army of troops would have difficulty in guarding it.

About Mercedes, a few miles northwest of here, rangers and cavalrymen pressed the bandits so hard today that some of them fled across the river. Cavalrymen captured thirty-five horses from one band near Mercedes after a long chase, of which so far as could be learned, no one was wounded.

Many Mexicans along the American side of the border appeared to be entirely innocent of the trouble and hundreds of Mexican families are seeking the protection of Americans in the towns.

In Brownsville today the tension became unusual, but it was largely relieved by the announcement that four companies of United States Infantry will arrive tomorrow.

Mexicans in Laredo said they believed a dangerous sentiment had been fomented among Mexicans, particularly across the border from the Laredo section, about the alleged harm done Mexico by the United States' failure to recognize Carranza. These Mexicans said they feared it needed only a good opportunity for this sentiment to break in violence against the American border.

Police Court.
Henry Grevia, well known in musical circles at Westville, N. H., arrived in town on Wednesday and with him came his violin. Henry is no stranger here and he likes to let loose once in a while with music that has so long captivated the boys and girls in his home town. Henry did not get a chance to tune up on Wednesday but he tunked up instead and the old fiddle remained in the box all day. The police thought the jig and the box was too much for him to carry and they took him in. Four months at the farm was the verdict today and Henry can play for a few of the husking bees for the guests of the county during his stay.

KITTERY

A birthday party was tendered three members of the S. V. Club, Mrs. Fred Abrams, Mrs. Bertha Clarkson and Miss Gussie Phillips, on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Abrams by the other members of the club. The evening was very pleasantly passed and mirth reigned throughout the evening. The three women were presented gifts by Mrs. Frank Blake, Mrs. Henry Marden and Miss Margaret Fletcher in behalf of the club. A most appetizing lunch was served consisting of crab and chicken salads, hot rolls, olives, pickles, mint julep, pineapple freeze, assorted cake, and after-dinner fruit. A large birthday cake bearing the lettering "S. V. Club, 1915," occupied a conspicuous place on the table. It was not until a late hour that the party broke up, all joining in wishing the three ladies many happy returns of the day.

WILL MEET AT HOOD FARM, LOWELL

Annual Field Day of Massachusetts Swine Breeders' Asso. on Aug. 18.

The Massachusetts Swine Breeders' Association will hold its Annual Field Day meeting at Hood Farm, Lowell, Mass., Wednesday, August 18. At that time Mr. Dodge, manager of Hood Farm, will have on exhibition Hood's great show herd of Berkshires, which leaves for the exposition at San Francisco August 23.

This will be a splendid opportunity for all interested in swine to see one of the best herds of Berkshires in this country and it will be an experience of great value to go through this herd with Mr. Dodge, having him point out the strong points of these exceptional individuals.

Dr. Edward A. Cahill of the Bureau of Animal Industry will be there to give an address on the subject, "Hog Cholera," followed by a demonstration of the simultaneous treatment of the disease. Dr. Cahill is doing some splendid work in the state with the treatment of hog cholera and this will be a splendid opportunity for the swine men to learn what is being done and what can be done toward the eradication of this disease.

There will be several other addresses by practical swine raisers.

Lunch will be provided at the farm and it is hoped that a large number will avail themselves of the opportunity to spend the day at Hood Farm.

For further information write to E. L. Quaff, Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst, Mass.

Antiquated Draw Apparatus Should Be Eliminated.

Passengers on the several trains of the Boston and Maine complained bitterly on Wednesday forenoon between 10 and 11 o'clock of the delay caused by the opening and closing of the draw on the Portsmouth and Kittery bridge. The fact that navigation on the river has the right of way has caused many delays to the railroad at this point, but the antiquated apparatus for operating the Kittery draw has not helped the railroad in the least. Every other bridge on the line of this company has been equipped with electrical machinery or other more modern appliances and none were more needed than the draws on the highway and railroad part of the Portsmouth and Kittery bridge. It seems that the company could install this apparatus at less cost here than at other places, from the fact that it has its own power plant close by at Noble's Island where the necessary electricity could be divided, not alone for the draw but for the many signal lights on the bridge which the government has recently ordered displayed at night.

Railroad to Put in One on Portsmouth and Kittery Bridge.

The Boston and Maine is planning to put in a new highway draw on the Portsmouth and Kittery bridge. Following the construction of the draw it will likely be put in place early on a Sunday morning when the traffic is light. A new draw has been needed for some time and it is hoped that when it is installed that some modern method of operating the same will be adopted.

ALLIES GAINING AT THE DARDANELLES

Landing of New Anglo-French Forces Admitted By Turks--Russians Hurl Back Attacks at Riga

London, Aug. 11.—The landing of allies forces at Karachall in Thrace on the northern shore of the Gulf of Saros and the renewed offensive on the southern part of the Gallipoli peninsula will be viewed as an operation of the utmost significance and will be held as a recognition of the imperative importance to the Allies of forcing the Dardanelles as the shortest road to relieving Russian reverses and regaining the initiative now in the hands of Germany. The new landing place on the Gulf of Saros, being on the flank and rear of the Bulair lines, if developed, would menace the strong Turkish defensive across the neck of the peninsula.

An Athens despatch to the London Star states that the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg has replaced Field Marshal von Sanders as commander-in-chief of the Turkish forces in the Dardanelles. The despatch, however, does not make it clear whether it was Grand Duke Frederick Francis of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, or Grand Duke Adolf Frederick of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, who is named as von Sanders' successor. The Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin is a general of Prussian cavalry and a brother-in-law of the German Crown Prince. An official despatch from London last October said he was a prisoner of the Belgians. The Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz is a colonel of the Prussian army and took the field again after the outbreak of the war. Field Marshal von Sanders has been one of the leading figures in the reorganization of the Turkish military system brought about in recent years under German tutelage. With Field Marshal von der Goltz, he has been active in directing the Turkish army during the war, and for a time was in charge of the Ottoman forces at the Dardanelles. It was reported last month that he had been seriously wounded in a battle on Gallipoli peninsula. Later it was said that his injury was sustained at the hands of Turkish soldiers. Since Pasha, Turkish minister of war, was chall, which left behind some twenty dead.

"North of Ari Burnu troops which landed made a slight advance under the protection of the fleet. We repelled attacks and took some soldiers and officers prisoners."

"We achieved considerable success near Seddul Bahr in beating back attacks."

ROUT TURKS IN ARMENIA

Petrograd, Aug. 11.—The War Office last night issued the following statement regarding the fighting in the Caucasus:

"In the Passine Valley Sunday we repulsed Turkish attacks along the whole front. There was a desperate struggle for the possession of Merdine Mir Pass which our troops captured in spite of furious attacks by the enemy who withdrew in disorder to the south."

"In the direction of the Euphrates river our troops, pursuing the retreating Turks, took possession of Palantchen, after fighting, capturing two cannon, a quantity of cartridges and arms and a caravan of camels and making prisoner the commander of a regiment of infantry besides four other officers. Our pursuing columns are making fresh prisoners ceaselessly."

10,000 MASSACRED IN BITLIS

The Armenian bishop at Tiflis received information that 50,000 Armenian refugees have arrived at Igoli, the principal outlet of the vilayet of Van. It is expected that fully 100,000 will be driven from Van alone, and another exodus of Christians from Persia is feared. Kurds are reported to have massacred 10,000 Armenians in the vilayet of Bitlis, throwing the bodies of the victims into the Tigris and Euphrates rivers. The war on this front has reached a degree of intensity hitherto unknown except in the period just preceding the Russian victory at Sarikamish.

B. Varazdati, a member of the committee of the Armenian Socialist Democratic party, writing to L'Humanite of Paris on Aug. 2, said the committee had received word to the effect that the Turks, after massacring all the males of the population in the region of Bitlis, Turkish Armenia, had taken together 5000 women and children and drove them to the banks of the Tigris, where they were shot down, throwing the bodies into the river. Reports of massacres of Armenians at various points have been received frequently in the last four months. Six thousand were said to have been slain at Van in May. American missionaries at Van have played a prominent part in protecting Armenians from Turkish and Kurdish attacks. The Armenians are defending themselves as best they can with whatever weapons are available.

The head of the Armenian church was reported early this month to have sent to President Wilson an appeal to the American nation to protest against "Armenian massacres and the violent removal of Armenians from Constantinople and Cilicia (Asia Minor) to Konieh and Mesopotamia where they are doomed to perishing."

BRITISH DESTROYER SUNK

London, Aug. 11.—The British torpedo boat destroyer Lynx was sunk in the North Sea Monday as the result of striking a mine, according to an official announcement made last night by the British Press Bureau. Four officers and twenty-two men of the crew were saved.

The destroyer Lynx displaced 325 tons. The vessel was 260 feet long, 27 feet beam and 8.5 feet deep and was capable of traveling 32 knots an hour. The Lynx carried three four-inch guns and was equipped with four twenty-one inch torpedo tubes. Her complement in normal times consisted of 100 officers and men.

VALUABLE ADVICE

Portsmouth Citizens Should Profit By The Following Statement.

Doan's Kidney Pills were used by this Portsmouth resident.

Their merit was shown the story told.

Now comes further evidence. The testimony is confirmed—the results lasted.

Could Portsmouth residents demand stronger proof?

It's Portsmouth testimony. It can be investigated.

George S. Chandler, 420 Pleasant St., Portsmouth, says: "I do a great deal of walking in my work and in that way my kidneys became weakened, causing me much suffering. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and I have had little kidney trouble since. I have recommended this medicine to many of my friends and in every instance where it has been tried, benefit has followed."

A Permanent Benefit.

More than five years later, Mr. Chandler said: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills with pleasure for the cure they gave me has been lasting."

RUSSIAN FORCES IN PERILOUS POSITION AS GERMANS PRESS THEIR ADVANTAGE

The accompanying map indicates the perilous position of the Russian forces holding the east bank of the Vistula in Warsaw's vicinity. Serok, at the confluence of the Bug and the Narwa, was occupied by the Germans recently. Northeast the Bug has been reached south of Wyszkiw, about six miles from the Warsaw-Petrograd railway. The garrison at Novo Georgievsk, possibly an army corps (40,000), was in peril of a forced capitulation. German forces rapidly approached the Louza-Ostrow-Wyszkiw road, the last barrier preventing a comprehensive crossing of the Bug. Louza is seventy-five miles from Warsaw; Wyszkiw about thirty.

YORK BEACH WINS AGAIN

York Beach, Aug. 11.—The beach nine defeated the York Stars in a close and exciting game here today, 6 to 3. Bill of Dorchester high kept the hits well scattered and struck out ten men. Duffey and Adams played a fine fielding game, and L. Ellis featured with his slick work. Three double plays enhanced the game. The score:

"On the roads to Lithuania Monday night, after hand to hand fighting we successfully repulsed several German attacks, although they were supported by powerful heavy artillery. After combats the same night and the following day in the direction of Dvinsk in the region of Schoenberg, Pomerania and Vilkomit (northeast of Kovno), the enemy, yielding to our pressure, began to fall back, leaving in our hands about 100 prisoners, several machine guns and ammunition chests."

"On the Narva front on the road to Louza, Shindawa and Ostrow desperate actions continue. Our artillery repulsed the German offensive against Novo Georgievsk along the left bank of the Vistula."

"In the direction of Lublin and Lwow on the right bank of the Vistula, the enemy delivered an offensive Monday afternoon, which was stopped notwithstanding the persistence of the attacks. On the roads to Vlodawa we successfully repulsed an attack with asphyxiating gases. In the Lodz region, at the mouth of the Strupa, the Austrians made a local attack the following day. The fighting here continues."

"On the other sectors of the entire front there have been no important collisions."

ITALIAN ARTILLERY ACTIVE

Rome, Aug. 11.—An official statement issued last night at the headquarters of the Italian general staff was as follows:

"The general situation is unchanged. Our artillery, however, has caused serious damage to Tagliata and Ruz near Livinallunga."

"On the Carso plateau we easily repulsed the now habitual small night attacks with which our adversary seeks vainly to hamper us, strengthening our positions and preparing for further advances."

A Real Vacation.

My small son Charles, four and one-half years, was looking forward with great pleasure to a ten-day visit with me to New York city.

We were to leave on an early morning train, and the evening before I gave him a bath and told him to go and say his prayers and jump into bed quickly.

Fully twenty-five minutes later I went into his room, and he was still on his knees.

I said to him, "Why, are you asleep?"

"No," he replied, "but I have said my prayers ten times, and I won't have to pray in New York." Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE BODY OF CAPTAIN FRYE WASHED ASHORE

Wells Beach, Me., Aug. 11.—All doubt of the fate of the two-masted schooner Mary E. Pennell and her crew of five men was removed today when the body, washed ashore here, was identified as that of Captain Edwin Frye, of Machias by his wife, Samuel M. Frye of Harrington, after it had been exhumed.

The mate, Chester Allen of Bangor, and two sailors and the cook, whose names he did not know, are believed to have lost their lives, as no report had been received from the 47-year-old schooner after it sailed from Vineyard Haven on July 6, with a cargo of 450 tons of coal from South Amboy for Calais.

Having sailed on the craft, Mr. Frye was easily able to recognize the wreckage which came ashore with the body. Captain Frye was 53 years old and had a wife and four children.

DIPLOMATS PREPARED NOTE TO MEXICO

New York, Aug. 11.—Diplomatic representatives of Brazil, Chile, Argentina, Bolivia, Guatemala and Uruguay and Robert Lansing, secretary of state of the United States met here today to act in a plan which has for its aim the restoration of peace in Mexico.

An appeal to Mexicans of all factions to subordinate personal and selfish interests to the national welfare of Mexico, had been prepared. Both President Wilson and Secretary Lansing had given it their approval, and after today's conference on details of phraseology and the length of time in which it should be indicated that replies were hoped for, the communication will be distributed throughout Mexico to leaders and officials, civil and military.

FORMER RESIDENT DIED YESTERDAY AT CHOCORUA

PETER MITCHELL, 69, ENLISTED FROM HERE FOR THE CIVIL WAR

Word was received here yesterday of the death of Peter Mitchell, aged 69, at Chocorua, N. H. He was born in Ashton-under-Lyne, England, and his parents came to this city when he was only three years old. His education was gained in the public schools.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, he enlisted in Company K, 13th New Hampshire Volunteers. At the battle of Petersburg, Corporal Mitchell and Sergeant James H. Morrison won distinction by each capturing a rebel flag from an Alabama regiment. These were sent to New Hampshire by Col. Stevens, who commanded the New Hampshire regiment, but at the time of the Keatsburg-Alabama celebration in this city, were returned to the state of Alabama by the state and consent of the captors.

After the war he returned to this city and worked in the Portsmouth wool factory. Some years ago he took up his residence at Tamworth, later Chocorua. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Susie Richards, also a brother, Thomas J. Mitchell of this city.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE NOTES

Infant mortality in Boston is the lowest of any large city in America, and strange as it may seem to suffragists this proud distinction has been achieved without votes for women.

SVD HLIM MOOO

held in Atlantic City, Mr. S. W. Small of Georgia stated that fourteen states south of the Mason and Dixon line have fewer saloon licenses than Chicago alone, and yet these fourteen states have only male suffrage, while Chicago has woman suffrage!

A writer in the New York Times of July 10 deprecates the lavish expenditure of the suffragists of their husbands' fathers' and fathers-in-law money for the suffrage cause when the world's need is so great. In this connection it is worth remembering that at the beginning of the war the President of the National Anti-Suffrage Association urged that a truce be arranged between the suffragists and the anti-suffragists in order that the women of both factions might devote their time and money to alleviating the poverty and suffering of the world. The suffragists refused to even consider the suggestion. It is indeed little short of a crime that so much money and energy should be thrown away at a time like this, but perhaps it is too much to expect anything better from a movement many of whose leaders, as Dr. Dana has pointed out, have the mentality of eleven year old children.

Suffragists have a no method for making converts. Mrs. Frederick Nathan, president of the Consumers' League of New York for a tour through New Jersey with a quantity of suffrage leaflets wrapped around coals. These were to be thrown out to the populace as her car rolled on its way.

The suffragists seem practically to have given up all argument as to the justice or expediency of their cause, and to be devoting themselves to "bluffing" the public into believing that suffrage is bound to come. They give impressive lists of Newspapers, labor organizations, etc., which have endorsed woman suffrage. In this connection it is worth remembering that in Michigan practically all the papers of the state and many organizations endorsed woman suffrage, but on election day suffrage was defeated by 95,000.

Knowing the tendency of people to wish to be on the band wagon, it is good tactics to try to make them think that the band wagon is going toward suffrage; but in Missouri, Ohio, North Dakota, and Nebraska the band wagon turned out to be a hearse, and certain Massachusetts suffragists are beginning to realize that conditions are similar in Massachusetts. The chairman of the suffrage association in one of the Massachusetts cities, long considered a hot bed of suffrage, is reported to have resigned recently because she did not wish to be associated with a losing cause. After suffrage was defeated in Missouri by 140,000 one of the leaders admitted that she had known all the time that she could not win, and that her confident talk was only bluff. This is worth bearing in mind when the eastern suffragists assert so confidently that suffrage is bound to come.

Even that ardent friend of suffrage, the Boston American, can, it seems, be shocked by the actions of the suffragists. On July 27th under the heading "A Degradation and a Disgrace to Woman Suffrage" the American says: "A thing happened in New York the other night that ought not to happen again."

"A number of men for the making of money, organized a brutal prize-fight. And women—ordinarily respectable, we presume, in their methods and in their actions—appeared at this prize fight, and between the fighting talked about woman suffrage."

"Women ought not to go into the sewers to talk suffrage, or go into disorderly resorts—least of all appear in a prize fight gathering."

"We take a charitable view of the women who went to that particular prize fight and assume that they were ignorant and ill-advised, rather than vulgarly seeking to advertise themselves and gratify a morbid interest. We do not assume that they belong to the limited class of women unfit to vote or share in any important undertaking."

"We call the attention of intelligent and well-informed women in the suffrage movement to this particular piece of folly and bad taste. Nothing would give more powerful backing to the argument of those who say that woman suffrage would be a step in the direction of woman's immortality. "Those people responsible for this particular folly are women so important in the ranks of the suffragist movement that the advice to eliminate them is not likely to be followed," Mrs. Norman deB. Whitehouse, one of the most popular suffrage leaders in New York, who organized Suffrage Telephone Day, and whose name is connected with most of the activities of New York suffragists, was a ring leader in the prize fight affair and was present at the fight."

SUNSET LEAGUE NEWS

The last game for the pennant has been played and won by the P. A. C. Selah! The game was a pipkin and those who saw it, whether they favored the champions or the runners-up must admit that it was a good exhibition of ball, the best of the season, despite the fact that there were a few errors made. All that now remains is a couple of games between the first and second teams, picked out of the players of all the league teams.

A Portsmouth "Fan," one of the men who has seen every game but one that was played by the league this year, has made what he thinks is the all-star team. His selection as the best possible combination is this, with three men as substitutes:

Horn, p. K. of C.
R. Brackett, c. P. A. C.
Argue, 1b, Marines.
Caster, 2b, Marines.
Eberhard, 3b, Marines.
W. Brackett, s.s. P. A. C.
Deleiden, 1f, Marines.
Mullholland, c.f. Y. M. C. A.
Woods, r.f. P. A. C.
Substitutes, Jordan, Y. M. C. A.
Thompson, C. C. C. McPheters, Y. M. C. A.

Another team picked by a fan who has seen almost as many of the games is as follows:

Horn, p. K. of C.
R. Brackett, c. P. A. C.
Newick, 1b, P. A. C.
Harrington, 2b, P. A. C.
Eberhard, 3b, Marines.
W. Brackett, s.s. P. A. C.
O'Brien, 1f, K. of C.
Mullholland, c.f. Y. M. C. A.
Thompson, r.f. C. C. C.
Substitutes, Morgan, Jordan, Caster.

"They look like pretty good baseball teams, both of them."

When they were asked about the umpires they would pick if they had anything to do with it, both agreed that Fred Bunker and George Woods looked like fair and square men, men who used their right judgment on every play, and has the courage of their convictions back of them.

IF YOU MUST DRINK

To the married man who cannot get along without his drink, the following is suggested as a solution of the bondage of habit:

1. Start a saloon in your house.
2. Be the only consumer. You will have no license to pay.
3. Give your wife $2.00 to buy a gallon of whisky and remember there are ninety-six drinks in a gallon.
4. Buy your drinks from none but her, and by the time the first gallon is gone she will have $7.60 to put in the bank, and $2.00 to start in business again.

5. Should you live ten years and continue to buy booze from her, then die with snakes in your boots, she will have money to bury you respectfully, educate your children, buy a house and lot, marry a decent man and quit thinking about you.—Exchange.

BOMBARD GERMAN POSTS

Amsterdam, Aug. 11.—A squadron of British warships bombarded German positions Tuesday from Ostend to Zeebrugge, says a despatch from Shies. German batteries among the dunes shelled the ships heavily, but it is believed that all were practically undamaged. On Tuesday French and British aeroplanes dropped bombs on German gun positions and the railway station at Bruges. Several buildings were set on fire.

KITTERY

Breezy Items from the Village Across the River.

Mrs. James R. Philbrick and Mrs. Edward Fernald of Whipple road were the guests of Mrs. William Tobey of Kittery Point on Wednesday.

Miss Edna Rowell of Northwood, Mass., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Abbie M. Howell of Badger's Island. C. E. Hosmer of Kennebunk was a visitor in town today on business.

Miss Ellen M. Dennett of York is visiting her brother, Alexander Dennett of Echo street.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sugrue of Jones avenue left Wednesday for a visit in Waterbury, Conn. They made the trip by automobile.

Mrs. Emily Becket of New York City is visiting her sister, Mrs. Jennie Hayes of Whipple road.

The ladies of the Grange are requested to bring fancy crockery to the meeting to be held on Friday evening. A meeting of the Philathea Club was held on Wednesday evening and further arrangements made to hold a house party at the Kittery Yacht Club house, Old Ferry Lane, the latter part of this month or the first of next.

Mrs. Clarence S. Chick of the Junction passed Wednesday at York Beach. Mrs. L. M. Smith of Amesbury, Mass., is visiting Mrs. Charles H. Lawson of Rogers road.

The farmers in this vicinity are busily engaged in haying just at present—making hay while the sun shines.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hobbs of the Junction passed Tuesday in Manchester, N. H.

Miss Anna Gleason has returned from a visit with friends in Dover, N. H.

Mrs. Abbie M. Rowell of Badger's Island is entertaining her cousin Frank A. Rowell of Methuen, Mass.

Leah, Ralph B. Dennett sailed on the U. S. S. Montana when the vessel left the local yard on Tuesday.

Rev. George Howard Williams has been chosen president of the Southern Collegiate Institution at Albion, Ill. President Williams is a native of Kittery Point and has been a preacher in the west for a number of years. He is a brother of Mrs. Hattie E. Shaw of Pleasant street.

George Howell has returned to his home in Worcester, Mass., after a visit with relatives in town.

Mrs. Adelaide Brown Craig of Dover, N. H., arrived Wednesday for a visit with her father, William Brown of Locke's Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Woods and party, motored to Hampton Beach on Wednesday evening.

Miss Marion Welch of York is visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. Earl Chick of Post road.

Miss Nellie Lewis of Kittery Point is visiting her sister, Mrs. Nelson Webster of Newmarket street.

A very delightful party was given on Monday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Peterson of South Portland, former residents of this town, to announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Elsie to Mr. John Harold Chick of this town. The decorations were very charming, the color scheme being of green and pink. Pink carnations and other cut flowers in profusion were conspicuous all about the rooms.

The genuine surprise of the evening was sprung when the guests were seated at the table in the dining room. Pink and green streamers extended from each plate to a basket of cut flowers suspended over the table.

When the strings were pulled by the guests the little envelopes containing the announcement were opened at the same instant by all seated at the table and congratulations were at once in order. Musical selections were enjoyed during the evening.

The following names were omitted from the committee in charge of the Catholic fair held on Tuesday evening: Mrs. John Edwards, Mrs. John Flanagan, Mrs. Frie Thompson, and Mrs. Wilham.

The fair held on Wednesday under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Second Methodist church was a great success in every way. The various tables were well patronized and a goodly sum realized. Mrs. Martha Founds was in general charge of the affair and much credit is due her for her good work. The apron table was in charge of Mrs. Ida Marshall and Mrs. Elmer Hall; towels, Mrs. Thomas Ritchie and Miss May Dyer; candy, Mrs. Frank Tobkins; peanuts, Mrs. Samuel Edwards; ice cream, Mrs. Arvilla Shaw; mystery tree, Miss Eva Lambert. A very fine supper was served in the vestry of the church from 5.30 to 7 o'clock by the ladies and this drew a good crowd. In the evening another large audience attended the concert given under the auspices of the Brotherhood, Rev. A. J. Hayes being in charge of the arrangements. A fine program was given as previously published in this column. All the men participating were very favorably received and each in his part showed his special ability. It may be said that this was the best concert given by men for some time in this town. Miss Bernice Glidden very ably assisted as accompanist.

Mrs. Percy Dargula and son Norman of Newson avenue are visiting relatives at Brand Rock, Mass.

Miss Anna Law and sister Mrs. Worthington of Manchester, N. H., arrived Wednesday for a few days' visit with Mrs. E. A. Noel of Newson avenue.

Come to Portsmouth Sept. 6, 7, 8, 9 Portsmouth's invitation to the citizens of New Hampshire.

AUTOMOBILES IN COLLISION ON STATE STREET

Car Owned by Mrs. C. O. Nason of Claremont Slightly Damaged.

There was a narrow escape from a serious collision at the junction of Pleasant and State streets this Thursday morning when a Massachusetts car with the registration of 19531 crashed into a large limousine bearing the New Hampshire registration 2303.
The latter car is owned by Mrs. C. O.
Nason of Claremont, who is summering at York Beach, but at the time the owner and a party of friends were in Boardman & Norton's drug store.

The only damage done was the twisting of the rear mudguard of the Nason car and the forward mudguard of the Massachusetts machine. The owner of the Massachusetts machine acknowledged that he was in the fault and readily agreed to pay the damage to Mrs. Nason's car, which was estimated at $30. The damage to each car did not prevent them from proceeding on their way.

That the Boston Post will publish Thomas Bailey Aldrich's famous
"Story of a Bad Boy" beginning on Sunday next.

That the sports on Water street say they have some pugilist among them.

That he would make a hit in the "movies" with his stunt of training before the mirror.

That the Veteran Firemen gave the brakes of the handub Eureka another yank on Wednesday evening.

That they say the old machine is in great trim for the battle at Marblehead.

That the down town office of the American Express is much missed.

That a Congress street businessman will keep that sign for a souvenir which he found attached to his "Little Old Ford."

That somebody said that he would offer a reward for information as to who hung the sign.

That he simply smiles and says, "It's a free bid."

That Dover has six candidates for a position on the police board of that city, soon to be vacant.

That Grace Eyth, a woman with an estate of $50,000 was granted a divorce from her husband under queer circumstances at Kansas City.

That she was to undergo a surgical operation and being uncertain of the result she applied for the separation.
That she did not want her husband to come in for any of the coin and the court granted the divorce.
That a disagreement over money matters was the original ground on which the suit was brought.

White and Colored Man Came to Blows on Congress St.

Frank Fraser and Edward Halfpen-ny, the last named a colored man, are residents of Brewster street and it is evident that no loving cups have passaged between them of late. On the other hand they have been engaged in spasmodic arguments about children. Anyhow, the animosity came to a climax on Wednesday when the white and the colored man met on Congress street.
The only preliminary was a question asked by Fraser and the colored man flopped for the count on the sidewalk.
He got up again and was about to catch the second wallop when Officer Murphy appeared on the scene and put an end to the open air slugging fest.
The belligerents were both stockaded and faced the court today. They both told of the long standing troubles.
Fraser claimed that the colored man had insulted his boy and when the opportunity occurred he took a punch at his colored neighbor. He admitted that he lost his head and that the law would have been a better way to get back at Halfpenny. He also claimed that the colored man was preparing to take a swing at him and to protect himself he got in the first uppercut.
The court decided that Fraser was on the offensive and he was obliged to divorce himself from $11.50. Fraser was not entirely satisfied with his end of the affair and notified the police that he would issue a warrant for the arrest of Halfpenny charging him with assault on his son.

OLD TIMERS AND YOUNGSTERS

Will Meet on the Diamond on Friday Evening.

Next Friday evening there will be a game of baseball at the South playgrounds between the "Old Timers" captained by Captain Bill Woods and the "Youngsters," under Captain George A. McPheters. This game has been arranged by the directors of the Sunset League and the proceeds will be devoted to the lap day collection of the Portsmouth Hospital.

On Monday evening a game will be played between the Y. M. C. A. and the Morley Patton Company nine to settle the tie for the second position in the league.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings the post series between the leading teams will be played and the local fans will no doubt be treated to some good ball playing.
